AMERICAN RECOVERY & REINVESTMENT PLAN

Congress approved the $787 billion economic stimulus bill earlier this month. A significant portion of the funding is specifically for k-12 schools.

The $100 billion set aside for education aims to fund programs for special education, low-income students, and early-childhood initiatives. This money is meant to provide incentive to everyone, from teachers to state officials, to think in terms of reform.

The following represents how the educational money under the proposed bill will be distributed:

- $53.6 billion in the state stabilization fund to restore cut programs.
- $8.8 billion for high-priority needs, such as technology upgrades.
- $5 billion in incentive grants. **
- $5 billion for more innovative programs.
- $2.1 billion for Head Start Programs.
- $13 billion for the Title I Program, for low-income children.
- $12.2 billion for the IDEA Program, for special education grants.
- $200 million for the Teacher Incentive Fund.

PartStock is prepared to assist your school and/or district with your technology purchases. We promise that your decision to purchase from PartStock is both a smart choice and one which will maximize your budget.
